CV: Ardi has more than seventeen years as a professional in the Singapore healthcare and social welfare system. He is a qualified Social Worker and has experience in the Eldercare, Disability and (to a lesser extent) the Family verticals.

He is a seasoned leader, managing people and has performed turned around low performing programmes (from a financial and quality perspective); as well as, in starting new programmes and services. He is equally motivated at the prospect of starting a new project, making it sustainable, and then identifying areas to improve in.

Ardi also believes in leveraging on appropriate technology to increase productivity in the workplace. He obtained MSc qualifications in the Analysis, Design and Management of Information Systems and applies himself in this area.

Ardi's motivation is driven by his passion to help people, especially the poor and the ill. His belief is that no one should be denied the help they require regardless of their financial status.
